

The most common topic when discussing cleanroom mat's adhesive characteristics is usually that of tack level. It is often brought up when discussing the performance of cleanroom matting. In doing so it is vital to include the other often overlooked adhesive characteristics of pressure sensitive adhesives- adhesive thickness and adhesive softness. These three characteristics together - thickness, softness and tack determine the adhesive's ability to remove and hold dirt particles in a cleanroom entry application.